Seventy-Five Thousand Spectators Witness Thrilling Contest Today

FEW ACCIDENTS MAR EVENT

Drivers Hit Up a Terrific Pace Around the Circuit

FAVORITES FORCED TO RETIRE

Wauwatosa, Wis., Oct. 5.—At the end of 316 miles, Bragg, driving a Fiat car was leading in the fourth American grand prix automobile road race on the Wauwatosa course, and looked like a certain winner. De Palma in a Mercedes, winner of other great races was second, six minutes behind Bragg. The race started 10:30 this morning. "Bob" Burman was the first of the twelve contestants to start, and Barney Oldfield was the last to get the word. The biggest crowd of the week gathered to witness this $10,000 event and the weather and track conditions were ideal.

Before the start Burman had considerable engine trouble. Following are the cars and drivers: Burman, Benz; Fontaine, Lezler; Tetzlaff, Fiat; Hughes, Mercer; De Palma, Mercedes; Wishart, Mercedes; Clark, Mercedes; Bergdoll, Benz; Bragg, Fiat; Moran, Benz; Anderson, Stutz; Oldfield, Fiat.

Burman was forced to withdraw at the end of fifteen miles because of a broken piston. Reckless business between the big cars kept the spectators on their feet almost constantly.

At the end of thirty miles, Tetzlaff was leading with Bragg second and Wishart third. Bragg had driven the third lap at a speed of 77 miles an hour. On the fourth lap, Wishart broke a crank shaft and was forced out of the race. At the end of 75 miles, Tetzlaff was leading Bragg by fifteen seconds with De Palma third and making a speed of 75.5 miles an hour. At the end of the 80th mile, Tetzlaff made his first stop at the pits, and Bragg took the lead and began a terrific drive.

Hughes cut three wheels, while he was going at a seventy-mile clip, but he kept the car in the road and saved himself and his mechanic. He resumed after a brief delay.

Hughes withdrew from the race at the end of the seventeenth lap because of a broken gasoline feed pipe. Fontaine for a second time drove through bunks of hay and crashing through a fence landed in a pond. Fontaine and his mechanic are reported as not seriously injured.

The three-cornered fight between Tetzlaff, Bragg and De Palma for first place, kept the crowd of seventy-five thousand at a high pitch of excitement.

Fontaine withdrew on the twenty-second lap because of a broken steering gear and Tetzlaff at the end of 214 miles lost the lead and the race when a rod broke.

BRITAIN NEEDS PURE FOOD LAW

Government Chemist in Annual Report Points Out Present Discrepancies

ADULTERATIONS ARE COMMON

Copper Poisoning is Traced to Oyster Supply

London, Oct. 5.—An efficient pure food law is sadly needed in Great Britain, according to the indications of the government chemist in his annual report on the work of his laboratory.

Cider is a favorite beverage in England for those who prefer soft drinks and it is stated that the great majority of so-called "non-alcoholic ciders" are entirely free from fermented apple juice and are simply solutions of sugar which have been aerated, flavored and colored. Beverages of this class are frequently prepared from liquids or essences supplied by manufacturers, who also furnish a recipe for making cider from them. In one brand examined a liquid supplied by a continental firm as "concentrated apple juice" was found to be a strong solution of sugar flavored with fruit essences, colored with aniline dye and quite free from apple juice. One of the samples of butter marked "Canadian Produce" contained 37.5 per cent of water, the legal limit being sixteen per cent.

Samples of oysters sent from the west of England on suspicion that they had caused copper poisoning showed that all of the oysters contained both copper and zinc. The report says that the presence of zinc in oysters does not appear to have been noticed previously and in those examined there was considerably more zinc than copper. The heaviest oysters contained the most copper and zinc, leading the chemist to conclude that the foreign substances had no deleterious effect on the growth of the oysters.

The report also uncovers the fact that dealers improve the weight of test by placing sand in it and it shows that many other food products are hardly what their consumers expect them to be.

Cotton Crop Along Nile.

The cultivation and handling of cotton on the banks of the Nile are to be studied by a delegation of 100 experts representing twelve nations. They are going to Egypt shortly under the auspices of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners and will make a thorough inspection of the various spinning factories, seed crushing factories and plantations in the country.

In addition to visiting the experimental and other plantations, the delegates will hold conferences with the Department of Agriculture at Alexandria, the Khedivial Agricultural Society and the Alexandria Produce Association.

The latest reports received here on the cotton crop are of a very favorable nature and an estimate of its extent places it at eight million cantars of one hundred pounds each, which is a record crop for Egypt.

Review Great Army.

Colonel Hughes, Canadian Minister of Militia, and the officers accompanying him, had a busy time viewing the maneuvers of two great armies within the space of two weeks. Colonel Hughes and his staff reached Tours, France, on September 11, and next day they witnessed the clash of two opposing armies of 116,000 men. They were present at two severe battles and several minor engagements. In addition to observing the work in the field they spent much time in examining the transport trains and the camp and field equipment.

They returned to England to witness the launching of the battleship "Audacious" and then attended the British army maneuvers at Cambrige.

On Daring Voyage.

A daring attempt to make a voyage round the world in a 25-foot sailing boat has just been started from Yokohama by Captain J. C. Ross, of Victoria, B. C., and two young Englishmen. Sufficient food and water has been taken on board to last the three men until they reach the Fiji Islands, the first port of call. From the islands they will proceed to Australia and thence to the coast of Southern Asia.

They will then sail along the coast to the Mediterranean and up the Spanish and French coasts to the south of England.

Leaving England, they will steer a southerly course across the Atlantic for Panama, where they expect to be one of the first boats passing through the completed canal. Leaving the canal they will cruise up the west coast of North America to Victoria, B. C., from which port they will commence the last leg of their world encircling voyage by crossing the Pacific to Yokohama.

Cincinnati is discussing steps to secure a commission to draw up a new charter.

Another event of the week of interest in educational circles will be the formal inauguration and dedication of the Rice Institute at Houston, Texas. The institute is said to be one of the richest colleges in America and possesses an endowment of approximately $10,000,000, left by the late William Marsh Rice, for whose alleged murder in New York some years ago Albert T. Patrick is serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison.

Monday is the day fixed for the re-assembling of the British house of commons for the autumn session. The program for the session is a heavy one, especially when the importance of the legislation is considered. Foremost on the agenda are Home Rule, Welsh Disestablishment, the Franchise Bill and a measure to allow trades unions to contribute to funds for the support of labor members of parliament.

Ovation to Riley.

During the week James Whitcomb Riley, the beloved Hoosier poet, is to be the center of the greatest ovation ever tendered an American writer. Monday will be the poet's birthday anniversary and during the week special exercises in honor of the occasion will be held in the public schools and in literary and art societies throughout the country.

A total eclipse of the sun is to take place Thursday, but it will be invisible in the United States except as a very small partial eclipse in Florida and the southern portion of the Gulf States. The path of totality will cross South America from a point near Quioto, Ecuador, to Rio Janeiro, Brazil, thence southeast across the Atlantic ocean.

Canadian historical and patriotic societies will join at the end of the week in a suitable celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the battle of Queen's Heights, in which the British were victorious over the American invaders, though they lost their valiant commander, General Sir Isaac Brock. On Saturday exercises in observance of the centenary will be held on the battlefield, which is marked by a magnificent monument of General Brock.

Hockin is acting secretary-treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers. According to McManigal, Hockin is the "inventor" of the alarm clock scheme by which the Los Angeles Times was blown up some time after the bomb had been lighted and J. B. McNamara escaped.

FOUR AMERICAN MARINES KILLED WHEN U. S. FORCES TAKE NICARAGUAN TOWN

Six Also Wounded in One of Most Sanguinary Battles Fought in Central America in Years—Insurrecto General Fatally Shot and Rebellion is Crushed

Washington, Oct. 5.—Four American marines were killed and six wounded yesterday when American forces took the town of Coyotepe from Nicaraguan rebels, according to a cablegram received early today by Minister Castillo from Chamorro, minister of foreign affairs of Nicaragua. The officials were shocked at Castillo's cablegram. The cablegram to Castillo, dated Managua, Oct. 4, is as follows:

"Managua was taken today by assault. We had one hundred dead and two hundred wounded. The Americans early took Coyotepe with four dead and six wounded. Correa almost took Barranca. Zeledon fled with his followers and was captured eight leagues from Managua. He was wounded and died later. Today I visited the American legation to express deepest sympathy.

"Minister of Affairs, Chamorro." Zeledon, spoken of in the cablegram, is a rebel general, a Honduran in the employ of Gen. Mena, the fallen dictator, who was recently captured and taken to Panama in exile.

This government's first advice came from Minister Weitzel at Managua. The dispatch said the Americans had driven Zeledon and his rebels from the Barranca hills in 37 minutes, but said nothing of Correa's participation in the battle. From the wording of the dispatch the officials think blue jackets of some of the ships under Sutherland were in the fight.

The lives of the American marines have been lost and others wounded in what appears to have been one of the most sanguinary battles fought in Central America in many years, yet technically the United States is not engaged in war. As defined by the state department, the status of the relations between the United States and Nicaragua is one of friendship. What Rear Admiral Sutherland has done in attacking the Nicaraguan rebels is declared to have been purely in pursuance of the duty imposed upon the navy many times in the stormy history of Central America, that of forcibly protecting American lives and property, as well as citizens of European nations. Ahe Admiral strictly refrained from intervening in any way between the warring factions of Nicaragua, and confined himself entirely to opening railway communication and maintaining it free of interruption, that the large foreign element scattered through the Nicaraguan towns might be able to receive food.

For nearly a week after the American naval forces managed to open communication from Managua to Granada, where the condition of foreigners was pitiful. Zeledon's rebel forces, entrenched on two hills at Barranca, actually commanded the line of communication by rail, interfering with the free movement of supplies and preventing unfortunates from making their escape to places of safety. Zeledon determined to retain the position he occupied, threatening the railroad. Admiral Sutherland was obliged to deliver an ultimatum, warning Zeledon that after 24 hours the American forces would undertake to drive him from the Barranca hills.

The time limit expired at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and today's cablegram indicates the American marines did exactly as they had undertaken to do, even at the cost of a few lives.

The state and naval officials are anxious to have it appear that what has been done by the American forces was in response to a formal request from the titular government of Nicaragua, an important consideration in estimating the result of this display of force by American marines. It is believed the bodies of the men will be brought home.
